Ainge: 36-y

The Associated Press

WALTHAM, Mass. — Stevens says he had no choice but to leave Butler — until the club was sold.

Stevens, 36, said he was paid too much for the 18-year-old Stevens to really be a coach. Boston introduced him to the club in 2008, and he stayed for a year. But when the club's financial situation worsened, Stevens was the first choice to replace the coach.

Stevens said he was not a coach, but a player. He was a first-round pick in the 2008 draft and played for the Boston Red Sox. He was traded to the Cleveland Indians in 2010 and then to the Tampa Bay Rays in 2011. He was released by the Rays in 2012 and has since been a free agent.

Young blood to vie for City Match-Play title

The Associated Press

City Match-Play is a tournament that gets its start on Sunday at the City Club. It is a tournament for young players, and it is one of the most popular tournaments in the area. The tournament is held every year, and it is a great opportunity for young players to compete at a high level.

could contend for the crown. He needed just 21 putts in his qualifying match to turn in a score of 3-under-par.

It was a very good first round for the young player. He was a first-round pick in the 2008 draft and played for the Boston Red Sox. He was traded to the Cleveland Indians in 2010 and then to the Tampa Bay Rays in 2011. He was released by the Rays in 2012 and has since been a free agent.

Another intriguing first-round matchup is McKinney, the No. 3 seed, who will go against the 11th seed, Turner. McKinney is a young player, and he is one of the most talented players in the area.
